COWETA COUNTY BIRTH RECORDS

1874 - 1944

COMPILED BY CLAIRE ADAMS JACKSON

THE COWETA COUNTY GENEALOGICAL SOCIETY

COPYRIGHT 2007

The following records include some of the births recorded in Coweta County from 1874 until 1944. Every effort was made to use the exact spelling recorded on these certificates. Some of the spellings may not reflect the spellings adopted by your ancestors, since many were recorded as they sounded to the recorder.

Birth records were not required by the State of Georgia until after the mid 1920's. For consistency sake, these records were noted as delayed if it was given more than thirty days after the birth occurred. This often happened due to the fact that these records reflected not only the hospital births in Newnan, but also births at home in rural areas by doctors and mid-wives. It was common for weeks, even months, to pass before the next trip "into town". Some records were recorded on actual Delayed birth forms while others were done on the current form used by the Probate Court, with a sworn statement by someone present at the time of birth for confirmation.

Many of these recorded births exist solely because of the Social Security Act of 1935. Thousands of men and women were entering the workforce and were required by law to have a Social Security number. To receive one they had to prove their citizenship. A birth certificate was necessary for this. Since most Georgia citizens born before 1930 did not record a live birth, delayed birth certificates were used for this purpose.

The following index includes live births, as well as delayed births. This index was taken from some loose records found at the Coweta County Probate Court, Newnan, Georgia.

By checking the names above and below the records you are researching, you may find further information or a difference in spelling.

Under the heading of sex the following codes were used:

- F female
- M male
- * African-American
- # death date also recorded on certificate
- d delayed record

For copies of the original certificates please contact the Coweta County Probate Court, Newnan, Georgia.
